SCHEDULE - 3

Incentive Payments.-

1. The incentive scheme applicable to Brush Filling Machine Operators (BFMO) will commence at 70% efficiency level of each machine capacity (based on the cycle time of the respective machine). The amounts payable at 70%, 75%, 80%, 85% 91%, and 101% are set out in the attachment. The output that has to be achieved in order to receive incentive payments on short working days are also set out in the attachment.
2. No incentive payments will be made to BFMO for efficiency levels below 70%.
3. Only marketable quality output with zero defects will be considered for calculations of incentives as described in (1) and (2) above. Damaged or items that need to be re-worked will not be considered for same.

The incentive payable for a shift to a BFMO would be calculated by multiplying the marketable quality brushes* rate (at each efficiency level).

4. Machine breakdown time will be considered as operating time for the purpose of calculating incentives.
5. In the event a machine could not be operated for the entire eight hour shift due to non-availability of brush blocks or filling material, the incentive payable would be calculated as follows:
 - (a) The machine should have been operated for a minimum of five hours during the shift.
 - (b) The output obtained during the hours that the machine was operated would be pro-rated to compute the incentive.
6. The incentive scheme applicable to Mechanics and Electricians is as follows:

They would be entitled to a maximum of 80% of the average incentive earned by BFMO during the respective month subject to the following criteria:

I.	If Engineering availability index is below 80%:	No Incentive
II.	If Engineering availability index is between 80% and 84.99%	50% of average incentive earned by BFMO will be paid to Skilled employees 75% of the amount payable to Skilled employees would be received by semi-skilled employees and 60% of the amount payable to Skilled employees would be received by Unskilled employees
III.	If Engineering availability index is between 85% and 89.99%	60% of average incentive earned by BFMO would be received by Skilled employees 75% of the amount payable to Skilled employees would be received by Semi-Skilled employees and 60% of the amount payable to Skilled employees would be received by Unskilled employees

IV.	If Engineering availability index is above 90%	80% of average incentive earned by BFMO would be received by Skilled employees 75% of the amount payable to Skilled employees would be received by Semi-Skilled employees 60% of the amount payable to Skilled employees would be received by unskilled employees

7. Incentive Scheme Applicable to General Workers in Supporting Divisions will be as follows:

Up to 2.5 days approved leave during the month	30% of the average incentive earned by the Brush Filling Machine Operators
3 days approved leave during the month	25% of the average incentive earned by the Brush Filling Machine Operators
3.5 days approved leave during the month	20% of the average incentive earned by the Brush Filling Machine Operators
4 days or more approved leave	No Incentive
Any unauthorized absence during a month	No Incentive
